

Dear Sir/Madam:

As a business woman, I travel continually across the USA, alone. I have found that the most valuable items for my security and safety are my cell phone and XM Radio. Traditional radio frequency can be lost in many areas, while as XM satellite radio is never lost. Traffic and weather reports are a must all year round. Several years ago, if I had XM radio, I never would have been caught in several tornadoes as I was driving through Scott's Bluff, NB. Please do not allow the National Association of Broadcasters to bully the FCC and remove this valuable information from my XM radio.

Thank you for your time & consideration

Donna Donnell
